Good morning Year 6 children,

I'm sure you feel excited, if not a little nervous, for what lies ahead this week. So I wanted to write to let you know how amazing you all are! You have worked exceptionally hard, to beat personal goals and targets, and have made so much progress in all areas of learning.

However the SATs this week measure only a small part of that learning – English and Maths. You have the chance to show how great you are and to celebrate your learning. I would like you to remind you, tests are not the only measure of success. You are wonderful children, with kind hearts and warm personalities. You are talented athletes, musicians and artists. You are budding film makers or wildlife experts. You are loving brothers, sisters, sons and daughters. Your talents, skills and learning go much further than English and Maths and it is these that will prepare you for your next adventure at Secondary School.

All I ask is that you try your best! Give every question a go and enjoy having the chance to show off!

Before you come into school remember to have a good breakfast, allow yourself time to get to school and this evening have an early night.

I know you will all do exceptionally well and remember we are here if you have any questions or worries.

Good luck!

Mr Adrian Hall
